

Isn't CPS about much more than just HVAC products?

CPS is thinking beyond to save energy and improve comfort in buildings.

To capture the full potential for optimized comfort at highest energy efficiency, CPS needs to think beyond traditional HVAC. We deliver control products and systems to manage all energy and media flows in a building, including water, air and light as well as electrical energy and people, closely collaborating with our strong partner Business Units within Building Technologies. Customer focus, our innovative spirit, and our dedication to excellence remain the foundation for our success. CPS – Thinking beyond!

Answers for infrastructure.

SIEMENS